[00:00:07] Okay. Are we live on Zoom now? No. Okay. All right. I'll proceed as we were going just now. All right. Is there a motion to approve the agenda as presented? So moved. Dr. Ackerman? Aye. Mr.

[00:00:24] Green? Aye. Dr. Northern? Aye. Mr. Hanson? Aye. Ms. Ashton, can you hear us? She can't hear us, can she? Yes. No. No. Okay. Mr. Monk? Aye. And chair votes aye. Okay. Staff has provided the Members of the board with draft minutes from our last month's meeting, is there a motion to approve the minutes as presented to the board?

[00:00:54] So moved. Second. Dr. Ackerman? Aye. Mr. Green? Aye. Dr. Northern? Aye. Mr. Hanson? Aye. Mr. Monk? Aye. And chair votes aye. Okay, moving right along. The board always appreciates being able to feature our wonderful arts programs from across the Commonwealth by having our students perform at our meetings to start our day off in the most perfect way possible.

[00:01:22] And so I will now ask Mr. Green if he would please provide us with an introduction of our guests. Yes, the 2025 PAVAN, I think I'm pronouncing that correct, Summer Regional Governor's School is a rigorous and engaging two-week summer program for rising high school students of classic theater, I mean classic guitar, theater, visual arts, and voice performing today are students from across the Northern

Virginia region as a part of the PAVAN Summer Regional Governor's School Small Guitar Ensemble. The students here today were

[00:01:59] accepted to the PAVAN program by virtue of their talent, hard work, and overall musical maturity in navigating a rigorous audition process for the program. Upon notification of their invitation to attend the PAVAN program, these students volunteer their time and talents to this performance and their willingness to represent the guitar division of PAVAN.

[00:02:27] Under the direction of PAVAN, guitar faculty, Harmony Middle School director of guitar in Hamilton, Virginia, current Virginia Guitar Directors Association president, Mr. William heart wells. These students are excited to share the fruits of their efforts with you. The music they are about to perform are two pieces they started rehearsing at the very start of the PAVAN program on July 7th and even demonstrated the highest ideals of readiness by attending

[00:03:04] an additional rehearsal this past Monday night in preparation of this performance. These students and their efforts and preparation have demonstrated both mastery in their stages of development and growth in performing together in an ensemble that has only rehearsed together a total of 10 hours ahead of this performance. We hope you enjoy. Okay, so the board will come down and sit in the front so that we can see you, your smiling faces, instead of having you not be able to see us.

[00:03:41] So for those of you who aren't up on your Native American Pima language, it doesn't loosely translate, but it translates to Salt River Basics.

[00:10:30] So if you're familiar with the southern part of Arizona, there's a salt river that flows through the southern portion of that. And that's where you find the Pima tribe. That is a favorite location of the inspiration for that piece, which is a notable guitar conductor from Arizona.

[00:10:49] His good buddy, the composer of the piece, decided he would dedicate a piece for it based on some of his favorite landscapes. And so, with keeping the idea of landscapes and rivers, what better way to actually play something about rivers if you're going to do Anc a Camille than to do an arrangement of Shenandoah.

[00:11:06] We hope you enjoy it. Thank you.
