

HOME-BASED INSTRUCTION

Loudoun County Public Schools (LCPS) offers Home-based Instruction as part of the continuum of services to students who are enrolled in LCPS.

A. Home-Based Instruction. Home-based instruction is also known as administrative homebound and may be provided to general education or special education students who have been removed from school due to disciplinary or non-disciplinary reasons as approved by the school administrative team. Medical certification is not necessary for such a placement. Home-based instruction may be delivered in the home setting (or other agreed upon setting) in accordance with the student's IEP or Section 504 Plan. Home-based Instruction will be provided as follows:

1. General Education Students.

- a. Home-based instruction may be considered as a temporary alternative instructional option for general education students, for disciplinary or non-disciplinary reasons, as approved by the Office of School Administration and coordinated by the school-based team and may be delivered in the home setting or other approved setting.
- b. Instructional priority will be provided for core academic subjects (Language Arts, Math, Science and Social Science). Advanced Placement, electives, and special courses will be considered but are not guaranteed. If it is determined that the course should be provided, it may not be comparable to the school-based instructional experience. Personal finance, economics, and/or World Language and Culture courses shall be considered for high school students if required for graduation.

2. Students Receiving Special Education Services.

- a. Home-based instruction for students receiving special education services will be coordinated through the Office of Special Education and may be considered by the IEP team as a temporary instructional placement.
- b. Home-based instruction may be delivered in the home setting (or other agreed upon setting) in accordance with the student's IEP. The student's IEP or Section 504 team will make this placement decision based upon the student's educational needs and consideration of the student's least restrictive environment.

HOME-BASED INSTRUCTION

- c. A student receiving home-based instruction is carried on the roll of the school the student attended prior to the placement change for the duration of the home-based instruction and will be marked present based on session attendance and participation.
- d. For eligible students, The IEP or Section 504 team shall meet to determine if accommodations or a change in services are required during home-based instruction. Instructional support is determined by the student's IEP or Section 504 team. The IEP or Section 504 team will determine the hours, duration, and location that instructional support will be provided.

B. Teachers Qualifications. A home-based teacher should have a broad background of professional training and experience to adapt instruction to each student's needs. In determining the appropriate teacher to provide [home-based] instruction for students with disabilities, the same requirements that must be met for "in school" instruction must be met for those students' receiving instruction at home. Matching teacher credentials/qualifications to student needs will be done on a case-by-case basis. Teachers eligible to provide home-based instruction must hold an active Virginia license issued in accordance with rules and regulations of the Virginia Board of Education. Teachers may provide instruction outside of their licensure endorsement when supervised by a highly qualified teacher.
